

DESPITE EVERYTHING
— your promise carries through

The basic power of love as well as the faithful confidence of a founder create a special kind of survival strategy in the Dachau concentration camp in 1942.

The Schoenstatt Institute of Families and the Schoenstatt Institute Brothers of Mary, in the 80th year of their foundation and in the 100th year of marriage anniversary of Fritz and Helene Kühr, invite you to a spiritual journey through the memorial side of Dachau.

Our world is very troubled: many people suffer fear and distress. In view of war in Europe, a pandemic worldwide and the many personal strokes of fate, uncertainty about the future is growing.

What does carry you through when the world is different from one day to the next...?

During the Second World War, prisoners in the Dachau concentration camp experienced "hell"! But in special moments, some feel a special closeness to God and experience human greatness.

How is that possible?

We invite you to a spiritual journey on the camp road, to an individual encountering with Father Josef Kentenich, the founder of the International Schoenstatt Movement, as well as with Dr. Fritz Kühr, the husband and social politician, and Dr. Eduard Pesendorfer, lawyer and regional politician. These three have preserved their inner freedom, even though their outer freedom has been taken away from them. "Despite everything" they have held on to their life dreams and visions even in captivity and have seen their God-given life mission more clearly and deepened it further.

We ask ourselves: How does christ-following succeed as a bearer of life and mission in the midst of the world today?

In the meetings on Saturday in small groups and in the plenum on Sunday, we can share and interact with each other.

We look forward to your participation.
